Many of Oklahoma's "finest hours" since statehood have been the result of the programs of our universities and colleges. This calls to mind OU's outstanding intercollegiate athletic program. But, more than that, it calls to mind the progress in research and education which has led to a more enjoyable way of life for us all.

Better citizenship through higher education has contributed greatly to the development of Oklahoma — and we take great pride in the accomplishments and examples of OU's outstanding graduates.

The survey and informational programs now underway through the efforts of the OU Alumni Association and alumni of other state institutions will be most helpful in formulating a higher education program. The colleges and universities are to be congratulated for initiating these steps themselves.

THROUGH BETTER GOVERNMENT

The next governor will have to keep foremost in mind the higher educational program of Oklahoma. The problems concerned with the future progress and development of education will be solved by the administrative and educational leaders working directly with the governor's office.
