Always Room for One More

No one is pleased when emergency measures are necessary to house a mushrooming enrolment—not the students and certainly not Housing Director Jodie Smith, who is making progress with his long-range plan for orderly housing expansion.

Explorers in White Coats

Dr. Jay T. Shurley is an explorer. He and his associates at the Behavioral Science Laboratory are blazing trails in an area which can't be found on maps or navigational charts. Their pathfinding occurs in the unknown reaches of the human mind.

The World Is Their Classroom

Annually, more than a score of O.U. faculty members get away from it all—for a couple of semesters. Leaves are given a qualified number who use the time away from the classroom to travel, study, conduct research, teach elsewhere and to grow professionally.

New Sound Without Fury

The University's clear-channel station, WNAD, is out to prove that radio can be educational, commercial and entertaining and still cling to the principles of good programming for the adult listener.

also in this issue

An Intraoffice Memo . . . Page 2
Another Feather . . . Page 16
Conversation Piece . . . Page 18
Roll Call . . . Page 18

the cover

The voice of Gene Dillehay is familiar to radio listeners throughout Oklahoma. But the talents of WNAD's new manager are not limited to the air waves, as the self-portrait on the cover clearly illustrates. For Dillehay sketches of other O.U. broadcasters, see New Sound Without Fury, page 12.