2 BUILDING SHIRLEY'S DREAM HOUSE
When the 1995 Bruce A. Goff Professor came to visit the College of Architecture, he brought an idea that set hammers, saws and imaginations flying as OU students tested classroom expertise on a real-world construction project.

8 REMEMBERING J. CLAYTON FEAVED
His classes were always packed, his teaching antics legend, but this witty, erudite philosopher of religion and ethics became best known to thousands of Sooner football fans for pre-game prayers that put the contest in perspective.

11 STUDY LIKE A CHAMPION
In this new age of intercollegiate athletics, the University of Oklahoma is making good on a pledge to its student athletes to supply all the tools necessary for success in the classroom as well as in their competitive sports.

17 HEADING FOR HEALTH CAREERS
The distressing shortage of Native Americans going into health professions is the focus of an intensive summer program in science and mathematics that brings prospective college students to the University from all over the nation.

21 A TRAGEDY OF WAR: POTENTIAL UNREALIZED
The effect of World War II on American higher education is well documented. Less discussed is the cost in talented young faculty, like the promising playwright Robert E. Whitehand, subject of this "Treasures from the Archives."

26 THE GOLDEN COUPLE
They met as teenagers at the 1976 American Cup, then went separate ways. Twenty years later, Olympic gold medal gymnasts Nadia Comaneci and OU's Bart Conner exchanged vows in a storybook wedding in her native Romania.
