Whatever it was, it enabled Sneed to accomplish what would be impossible today. He talked so hard and fast to the head of a certain department that that august gentleman added six hours of credit to the record of the student politician. But Sneed's victory was short lived. Just as the second semester was drawing to a close, the registrar regretfully informed him that six hours had been added to his record through a mistake, and because he had not earned the credits, it would be impossible for him to graduate. Accordingly, Sneed left the University in the spring of 1910, and did not return until three years later when he received his belated degree upon completing his work.

Politicians, “polisher students,” and brothers in the bonds of fraternity life, these Sooner of 1910 were among the pioneers of the state. They helped to make the University what it is today.

They contributed songs and yells. They formed traditions that have lived until today and will continue to live as long as the University exists.

Some, like Sneed; can look back over their college life and rue the passing of the “good old days,” when a car, that is, if anyone had a car, was allowed on the campus, and they could dance until dawn, and when no “Approved Rooms” signs determined where they might park their trunks.

Many, like Sneed, have sent their sons and daughters to follow in their footsteps. Earl Sneed, Jr., is a member of the same fraternity, enjoys the same sports and entertainments, and has made a name for himself on the campus just as did his father. But not yet, in this day of modern rules and regulations, has he been permitted to keep his date out after midnight.

The principal function of the administrative committee is to investigate and pass upon complaints of unethical and illegal conduct on the part of attorneys.

Clarence Lee Furrow,'21as, 22M.S., professor at Knox College, Galena, Illinois, was granted his law degree last year at the University of Iowa, Iowa City. His dissertation has been accepted for public publication by Arch, de Biologie. The title is "The Development of the Hemiprodite Genital Organs of Valvata tricarinata."

Following is a short biographical sketch of J. A. Rinehart,'22aw, El Reno, which was carried in the "Mr. Speaker" column recently in the Daily Oklahoman:

J. A. Rinehart, El Reno, state senator, has ample reason to celebrate his birthday. It falls upon Washington's birthday and the annual meeting date of the state league of Democrats... all of which means something to a young Democrat.

Rinehart who is "Jim" to his friends, was born February 22, 1900, at Dallas, Texas... parents came to Oklahoma when he was 6 months old. His father built the first house above the ground in Little Pasture of the Kiowa-Comanche country... Rinehart was reared on the farm... worked in oil fields when he was 16 years old... finished high school at Duncan... graduated in law at University of Oklahoma in 1923.

Rinehart got the "bee" to be a legislators back in 1923 when he was student law clerk for one of the senate judiciary committees. After graduation he tried to establish a practice in Ponca City, decided El Reno was better... became assistant Canadian county attorney... was elected county judge... served as Democratic county chairman four years... doesn't play golf or indulge in hobbies... but delights in taking a case where he thinks someone is being persecuted or mistreated. Rinehart was elected to senate last autumn from Oklahoma and Canadian counties. He is married and the father of two boys.

Following is a story concerning the great Polik "Polly" Wallace,'27as, East Central State Teachers college coach, who is attending the University this year. The story appeared in the Oklahoma Daily, student paper.

Ten years ago a 27-year-old student entered the university with two goals—to be an athlete and a scholar.

As a football player, he gained as many laurels as any warrior Oklahoma has ever sent onto the gridiron.

As a scholar he won for himself the highest honor that can be accorded a student—Phi Beta Kappa membership now unknown; Mrs. Hattie Barnes Sturt, arts and sciences, critic teacher of English and history at the Texas Women's college, Fort Worth, Texas; and Mrs. Melise Baye Walloglown, music, homemaker, 1801 Roxbury Road, Columbus, Ohio.

Mr. Lott, also an attorney, will serve as secretary of the committee.

The other members are John L. Norman of Okemah, retiring district judge; and T. L. Blake more and R. E. Stephenson, both of Sapulpa. Mr. Stephenson was named vice chairman of the committee.

The women members of the 1908 class are Mrs. Ruby Givens Johnson, music, homemaker, North West 13th street, Oklahoma City; Mrs. Elaine Bizzell Thompson,'26ex, and Mrs. Mary Omahnes,'27ex, both of the University of Texas, Austin; Mrs. Mildred Potts Colby,'32as, and Sam Colby, 31law, a daughter, January 12, Home, Mauldin.

Following is a short biographical sketch of Wilbur L. Morse, '29, ex, Eufaula, Okla., also appearing in the "Mr. Speaker" column:

Wilbur L. Morse—the gentleman from Okmulgee county—doesn't believe in keeping many secrets from the house—but he won't tell what his middle initial stands for—he'll tell the world anyhow.

Following is a short biographical sketch of Wilbur L. Morse, '29, ex, Eufaula, Okla., also appearing in the "Mr. Speaker" column:

Morse is 26 years old—worked his way through O.U. with a hammer and a saw—has carried union carpen ter's card since he was 16—ran a labor paper at Henrietta two years ago—serving second term in the house—has hobbies "too numerous to mention"—speaks with deliberate tone—refers to colleagues by first names—introduced more bills than anyone else the first day of the session—carpenter's union meets in his Henrietta law office.

He has two college degrees—like old age pensions, five-day week on public projects, minimum wage scales on public works—and the unicameral system—doesn't like tag agents—or escape of natural wealth from taxation.

Jesse Bushyhead, was chief justice of the Cherokee court... his father, Dr. J. C. Bushyhead, is well known in northeastern Oklahoma.

So Dennis Bushyhead, 29 years old, is a state senator, representing Rogers and Nowata counties... interest in good government and the fascination of politics caused him to run for the place.

Bushyhead was born at Claremore... says his family was there before the hills were... graduated at the University of Oklahoma... his grandfather Dennis Bushyhead... attended Oklahoma A. and M. college two years... graduated in law at the University of Oklahoma in 1930.
