Faculty

The following changes on the faculty of the School of Medicine were announced after the June meeting of the Board of Regents:

Dr. Raymond L. Murdoch, on leave of absence for military service since September, 1942, has resumed his position as professor of clinical surgery, effective May 15.

Dr. Walter W. Wells, professor of obstetrics and chairman of the Department of Obstetrics, was named professor emeritus of obstetrics.

Dr. Thomas C. Points was named to the clinical staff as assistant in obstetrics.

Dr. Robert H. Akin was promoted from associate in urology to assistant professor of urology.

Dr. Orvin H. Goodwin was promoted from associate professor of clinical medicine to professor of clinical medicine.

Dr. Arthur W. White, Oklahoma City physician and professor of clinical medicine, died at his home in Oklahoma City June 11. He was 68 years old.

A graduate of Rush Medical School in Chicago, Dr. White came to Oklahoma City in 1905 as professor of pathology at Epworth Medical School, a position he held until 1917, when he became professor of clinical medicine. In 1912 he joined the faculty of the School of Medicine and in 1925 reached the rank of professor.

The White served as a captain in the Medical Corps during World War I. He was the author of numerous medical treatises, the latest one, "Management of Peptic Ulcer," being published in 1943.

Dr. White was affiliated with the American College of Surgeons, the American Medical Association, the Oklahoma State and County Medical Societies, the Oklahoma Academy of Medicine and the Oklahoma Internists Association.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Winifred B. White, Oklahoma City; Charles S. Burkhart, Känner, Oklahoma City, and Carroll W. White, 113, United States Marine Corps, Washington, D.C.
