NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

Stella Reinhardt, '26 journ., is a secretary of the American embassy at Constantinople... Dr A. B. Adams, dean of the college of business administration, is a former member of the federal trade commission. His article was an address delivered at the American Economic association convention in Cleveland December 31.

When you get your invitation to contribute to the Buchanan Memorial Lectureship, be sure to give something. A dollar indicates a willing spirit. If you can spare more, then give more. But at least contribute, to help perpetuate the memory of this great Sooner and distinguished Oklahoman, James Shannon Buchanan.

And give promptly. The Association is undertaking the collection of funds without any additional help or financial assistance. And with the almost ten thousand graduates, not to mention fifty thousand ex-students, a solicitation campaign is a tremendous burden, particularly if it is long drawn out.

Every Sooner living near Norman should endeavor to attend some of the lectures of Count Sforza, to be given at the university during the month of March. Count Sforza is one of the men who helped make a part of our modern history. But apart from that, he is a man of courage and conviction, who prefers exile to suffering of the Mussolini dictatorship. And a man of spirit is always worth hearing, no matter what his topic.
