Following is a short biographical sketch of Charles B. Duffy, '22, law, Ponca City, which was carried recently in the Daily Oklahoman:

Charles B. Duffy, Ponca City, state senator, has made a hobby of American Legion work... has been state welfare chairman... is on the board operating the legion home school at Ponca City... formerly devoted his spare time to civic affairs... was president of the Lions club in his home town... likes fishing when the weather is inviting.

Duffy was born at Point Pleasant, West Virginia, May 27, 1900... his parents came to Oklahoma at statehood... lived at Checotah, where he attended school... entered the army air service at 17... served a year and a half... after his discharge attended University of Oklahoma and was graduated in law... hung out his shingle at Ponca City... was assistant county attorney in Kay county two years... Democratic county chairman... active in politics but made his first race for senator last year in Kay and Grant counties... was nominated and elected by Democrats in Republican district.

Duffy was a page in senate in 1915 when his father, W. M. Duffy, represented McIntosh county in the house... father wanted him to run for the senate... that was largely responsible for his making the race this year... but his father died three days after his nomination last summer.

Duffy is married and has two daughters.

Mrs. Sophie R. A. Court, '22, M.A., Norman, delivered a series of lectures in Omaha, Nebraska, during December and gave another series in Norman during the month of January.

Miss Thelma Whaley, '24, F.A., has been added to the faculty of the school of art. Miss Whaley has been connected with the faculty of the State Teachers College at Le Grande, Oregon. She is replacing Mrs. Mercedez Hoshall, '26, F.A., who is leaving for Charleston, South Carolina, where she will make her home.

Berneice English, '24, Oklahoma City, is one of two women who are in charge of the Children's Museum in Oklahoma City. The most interesting project was described by a story in the Oklahoma News. It follows:

In an old red brick building in the 400 block of North Walnut avenue the stone steps of which are worn from many passing feet, Oklahoma City has begun a small project which eventually will bring the whole world to children in the city schools.

The old red brick building itself has had its days of glamour, with meetings of the first legislatures of a new state and the beginning of a new government. The first capital is now Irving school, and has become the home of the Children's Museum.

Last year the board of education authorized the forming of an educational collection to become a real museum for school children. This week representatives from Oklahoma City women's clubs met in the classroom museum to form the first Oklahoma City Children's Museum society.

The idea, however, was already becoming a reality, and when on February 14 another meeting is held to complete organization of the society, they will find a museum begun.

A children's museum is a most fascinating place to be. In the one room at the Irving building, where classes are held now, Miss Berneice English and Mrs. Levia Smith, sponsors of the project, have arranged cases around the walls and floor cases, low enough for any child to peer into rurally into.

There are mounted birds and animals, natives of Oklahoma, collections of plants, butterflies, insects, minerals and fossils for science classes. There are dolls from many lands, and books printed in strange languages. There is an aquarium with fish ranging from the tiny guppy to nice, fat gold fish. There is an African collection, with strange things which were made by savages of the Congo.

In other cases are dolls and trinkets from Mexico, Japan and China; and rare old pieces of China loaned by friends. Maps there are. Fakimos, things.
and models of famous ships, with pictures and pamphlets galore.

THE FUTURE OF ARCHITECTURE

even in spite of the fact that there were few if any professional architects.

Today, it is possible for a student to secure a degree that labels him as a cultured gentleman. He is allowed to pass through an entire university without even hearing the word architecture spoken. The result is at once apparent. Never in the history of the world have so many architectural monstrosities been perpetrated. We are beginning to undergo a revival of art appreciation, after the limitations of our puritanical ancestors; with that artistic revival will come a realization of the necessity of beautiful buildings and with it an appreciation that an education in architecture will qualify one, not always necessarily, as a practicing architect, but to open one's vision to a broader, more beautiful and more useful life. In other words, such a course will be found to be as cultural, as diversified, if you please, as any degree that may be offered in any university of today.

PETROLEUM ENGINEERING

a dozen companies have pledged their full support and in several cases already have contributed to the advancement of work.

Six important drilling mud research problems are:

1. Evaluation of the colloidal content of drilling fluids.
2. The rate at which cuttings settle out in the pit.
4. The effect of gas cutting of muds upon slush pump efficiencies.
5. The cause and correction for lowered viscosity as a result of adding cotton seed hulls.
6. Chemical treatment for the purpose of controlling the effect of fine grinding upon density, viscosity and colloidal content of drilling muds. Lowering of viscosity due to salt water contamination.

The members of the Petroleum Engineers club are very active and some good meetings have been held this year. At the January meeting the students voted to become affiliated with the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers. We now have forty-five student members of the A.I.M.E., which makes O. U. the second largest student group in the United States.

In closing may I remind the alumni that we have about thirty-five men graduating the first of June. If you hear of jobs let us know about them.

When you are in the vicinity of Norman, don't fail to come in and see us.
