Calling the Roll of Sooner Classes

By Elaine Larecy

1906-
Mrs. Frank Buttram (Merle Newby, '06ba, '12ba), Oklahoma City, has been elected president of the Oklahoma City Kappa Alpha Theta alumnae chapter.

1910-
News was received of the death of Walter A. Davis, '10, at McKinney, Texas in January, 1941. Mr. Davis was chief clerk with the Texas Power and Light Company in McKinney.

1914-
Maude O. Owen, '14ba, '25ma, retired teacher of history at Central High School in Oklahoma City, died in Clinton, Missouri, March 15. Miss Owen resigned from the Central faculty last June because of poor health, and lived in St. Louis before moving to Clinton. She had taught in Oklahoma City for 25 years, coming there from Weatherford. She was a member of Teutonia, German language society, when she attended the University.

Charles E. Rogers, '14ba, head of the department of technical journalism of Iowa State College at Ames, had an article in a recent issue of Quill, publication of Sigma Delta Chi journalism fraternity. In the article he discusses the prospects for newspapers after the war, predicts that a new world journalism "will rise to satisfy the intellectual needs of the people of the world." Mr. Rogers was formerly a reporter on the Tulsa World.

1919-
John N. Mabry, '19, is district attorney of the third judicial district of Colorado, with offices in Trinidad. Mr. Mabry is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and is a veteran of World War I, having served as a major in the Artillery. He received a degree at Southwestern State College in Weatherford in 1917.

1921-
A. Rodger Denison, '21ba, '25ms, chief geologist of the Amerada Petroleum Corporation of Tulsa, was elected president of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists at a meeting in Fort Worth, Texas early in April. He succeeded Fritz L. Aarin, '14ba, '15ma, of Fort Worth. Mr. Denison, who joined the Amerada Corporation staff first in 1922, has been chief geologist for six years. He served as vice president of the Association during the 1929-30 term. He is a member of Kappa Alpha social fraternity, Sigma Gamma Epsilon honorary geological fraternity and the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineering.

1923-
Ray Atherton, '23ma, formerly connected with the Office of Defense Transportation in Washington, D. C., has been appointed general manager of the American Trucking Association composed of member trucking companies in every state. In his previous position, Mr. Atherton served as assistant to Joseph B. Eastman in supervising the use of the nation's motor vehicle equipment in the war effort.

Headed for an expected long run on Broadway was the Theater Guild's musical folk drama, Oklahoma!, adapted from Green Grow the Lilacs, a play written several years ago by Lynn Riggs, '23, which opened late last month at St. James Theater in New York. The original play appeared several years ago with Franck Town in the lead. Mr. Riggs, also the author of Oxford Mantle, is now a sergeant stationed at Wright Field, Ohio.

Chiefly responsible for the musical's success are Richard Rodgers, who wrote the music, and Oscar Hammerstein II, who wrote the lyrics and did the adaptation from the original play, and Rouben Mamoulian, who directed. Critics had especially high praise for the fidelity with which the play treats its subject—life in Indian Territory at the turn of the century. "Thoroughly refreshing without being oppressively rustic," was the verdict of Time Magazine.

Lewis Nichols, writing in the New York Times, said, "Oklahoma! is based on Lynn Riggs's saga of the Indian Territory at the turn of the century, Green Grow the Lilacs, and, like its predecessor, it is simple and warm . . . Mr. Rodgers has turned out waltz music, love songs, comic songs and a title number which the state in question would do well to seize as an anthem forthwith . . . Possibly in addition to being a musical play, Oklahoma! could be called a folk opera; whatever it is, it is very good."

Among the numbers sung by the cast of cowboys, farmers and rural belles are Oh, What a Beautiful Morning, People Will Say, and The Surrey with the Fringe on Top.

Figuring prominently in the actions of the wartime Congress last month was Mike Monroney, '24ba, Oklahoma's fifth district representative. Taking his stand in the War Labor Board Little Steel controversy, Representative Monroney, considered a liberal, urged caution on the part of John L. Lewis, saying that he would do labor a "great disservice" by calling a strike. In the House he has pending a bill designed to make certain actions on the part of labor leaders subject to the anti-trust laws.

An editorial in the New York Times April 10 described the measure proposed by the "young and vigorous representative from Oklahoma" as "a bill which looks good to us," according to John L. Lewis, Jr., national radio commentator speaking in Oklahoma City in March, said that Mr. Monroney is one of the most respected, intellectually honest men in Congress today, and praised his stand on the war price ceiling question. He and Representative Gore of Tennessee were leaders in the movement to freeze wages, costs and farm prices all at the same time.
