Plastering Is an Art

The hand of a real artist, a plastering artist, was required to produce the type of workmanship that would be in keeping with the other features of the new University of Oklahoma Library building. Mr. Freeman B. Van Horn, the plaster contractor to whom this part of the construction was entrusted, wishes to extend his congratulations to the officials, faculty and student body upon the formal opening of this magnificent structure.

Congratulations!

The handling of the surety bond covering the construction of the new University Library was entrusted to us.

We congratulate the University on its splendid new building.
