Calling the Roll of Sooner Classes

By Edith Walker

1898 C. Ross Hume, '98ba, '00ma, Anadarko attorney, was elected commissioner to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church which met May 21-28 at Wichita, Kansas. Mrs. Hannah Clapham Allaire, '98phlum, formerly of Skidmore, died last month in a hospital in Ogden, Utah. She was 67 years of age. Mrs. Allaire was one of the first two women to receive pharmacy degrees at the University. She moved several months ago from Cedar Bluff, Nebraska, to make her home in Des Moines, Iowa. Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Brogan, teacher in New York City, and a brother, J. C. Clapham, of Norman.

1903 Willard L. Gorton, '03ba, retired engineer, died in March at Boise, Idaho, after a short illness. He was 61 years old. Before his retirement about a year ago, he was consulting engineer for the Boise Water Corporation. Mr. Gorton was widely known as an irrigation engineer. After graduation from the University of Idaho, he served in the United States Service. In 1908 he went to Idaho as chief engineer of the Idaho Irrigation Company. In 1911 he went to Manila as chief irrigation and design engineer for the Philippine department of public works. Four years later he returned to the Idaho Irrigation Company as chief of a project at Richfield, Texas, and there until commissioned a captain in the Army Engineers Corps in 1918. Returning to professional work after the war, he became chief engineer of the Idaho Public Utilities Company. After private practice as an engineer from 1922 to 1929, he was retired as consulting engineer for northern Mexico irrigation projects. In 1930 he was engineer for irrigation works in Russia. From 1931 to 1941 he was employed by the Boise Water Corporation and the Kettleboro Water and Power Company. Survivors include Mrs. Gorton (Catherine Sarrett, '04), of Boise; a brother, Newton E. 1917 Bouquet splendy are heaped on the head of Arizona's freshman senator, Ernest W. McFarland, '17ba, in a highly complimentary personal appearance at the Jones Jubilee in June issue of Esquire magazine. Calling him "an independent thinker, blessed with personality and a Will Rogers dry sense of humor," Esquire describes the former Superior Court judge as no respecter of political party, for he is university-bred, widely traveled, well-informed and imbued with the same long-view pioneering spirit of his Scotch-Irish ancestors who wagoned West. The article, entitled "Ambassador from Arizona," also tells how Judge McFarland, back in 1910 defeated the incumbent Senator Askew, who was considered "unbeatable," nearly two to one. Senator Josh Lee, '17ba, was scheduled to deliver the annual commencement address May 29 at Oklahoma Baptist University, Shawnee. Senator Lee was a student there in 1911 before enrolling in the University of Oklahoma.

Mr. Sanders resigned from the Board of Regents of Oklahoma Colleges, of which... he was chairman, in order to accept the appointment made by the board.

More national recognition came last month to Rep. Mike Monroney, '24ba, of Oklahoma City, when Time magazine printed his picture and an article reporting his speech to Congress in which he had accused Congress of war record. The article said in part, "A one-time newcomer, Mike Monroney, as an Airedale pup, furniture merchant Monroney arrived in congress four years ago from Oklahoma City. To grow up as a good congressman, he had to have his moh of hair, permed at his colleagues, and let them have it." Specifically, Representative Monroney declared that Congress had produced "a weak and ineffective bill" on price controls. He also failed on conversion of the government plant to war by leaving virtually intact the "galling, duplicating bureaus of nondefense agencies"; had failed to slash nondefense appropriations; had failed to adopt an adequate tax program that would prevent inflation and capture excessive war profits; and had failed to crack down on high union initiation fees, eliminate labor bottlenecks, and prevent "jurisdictional and inter-union disputes." The Time article further quoted the Oklahoma congressman as saying, "The people are ahead of Congress in their willingness to do anything and everything to win the war."

BUY WAR BONDS out of Current Income

Everyone understands the importance of buying war bonds and stamps to finance the war effort. Many people, however, do not know why it is important for them to buy bonds out of current income.

The sale of war bonds and stamps to reduce consumer purchasing power is one of the measures our Government is taking to prevent inflation. Our Government wants individuals to buy the bonds so they will have less money to spend currently.

War bonds are attractive from an investment standpoint, and as such we are glad to recommend them. Up to May 15, 1942, the First National Bank & Trust Company of Oklahoma City, acting as authorized agent without profit or remuneration, had sold war bonds amounting to a total of $4,081,900.

Help win the war, and help prevent inflation, by buying all the war bonds you can—and pay for them out of current income.
