Students Spend Night in Line
For Tickets to Texas Contest

There hasn't been such a line since the days of the land rush! Student football fans started sweating the Dallas ticket line at the Field House 16 hours before the rationed cardboardswent on sale. The theory that the early Sooner gets the ducat proved itself as about 500 students, who were in line only four hours, were turned away empty handed.

The 4,000 student tickets to the Texas-O.U. tilt went like hot cakes. One ticket was sold for each ticket book presented, but only two ticket books could be presented by any one student.

First student to stake a claim in front of the Field House was Jim Thomas, geology senior from Oklahoma City. He occupied the number one position when the campus couldn't believe anyone would hit the lineat 3:30 p.m. Sunday, to await at the time of day. However, by sundown the campus couldn't believe anyone would hit the lineat 3:30 p.m. Sunday, to await the 8 a.m. Monday ticket sale. People-strolling around the campus couldn't believe anyone would hit the line so early and thought Thomas was merely passing the time of day. However, by sundown the rumor that the line was well on its way brought in the time of day. However, by sundown the rumor that the line was well on its way brought an unbelievable length. From the Field House down the line, sweat was poured from the two thousand O.U. students who spent several hours moving gradually toward the Library into the wee hours, lanterns were doused and street lamps covered with blankets, but would-be-sleepers were kept awake by the ever present "get your hot coffee and doughnuts now!"

As dawn rolled around, an occasional straggler could be seen looking for a buddy who would let him slip into line. This had been anticipated, though. Early in the evening line-sweaters worked out a system whereby each person was issued a signed card denoting his number in line. After 12 hours, the line co-operated in keeping the system above board.

Just as dawn rolled around, an occasional straggler could be seen looking for a buddy who would let him slip into line. This had been anticipated, though. Early in the evening line-sweaters worked out a system whereby each person was issued a signed card denoting his number in line. After 12 hours of get-acquainted songfests and card games, veterans of the line co-operated in keeping the system above board.

As dawn rolled around, an occasional straggler could be seen looking for a buddy who would let him slip into line. This had been anticipated, though. Early in the evening line-sweaters worked out a system whereby each person was issued a signed card denoting his number in line. After 12 hours of get-acquainted songfests and card games, veterans of the line co-operated in keeping the system above board.

When President Cross came down to view the line, he was immediately barraged with questions of "what're we gonna do about this Owen Field situation?" To the president answered that never again will seats be sold in the East Stadium to anyone other than students, and that they wouldn't have been this time had the administration known early enough that every student wanted a ticket to next year's Texas-O.U. game. Rather, most students were so impressed with the novelty of what they termed "stupidity" at waiting in line all night for football tickets, that they curbed their complaints. However, gripes were wild and furious about the overcrowded conditions of the stands during the Texas Aggie tilt in Owen Field the Saturday before. The conditions had resulted from two choice sections of seats in the East Stadium being sold to non-students.

When President Cross came down to view the line, he was immediately barraged with questions of "what're we gonna do about this Owen Field situation?" To the president answered that never again will seats be sold in the East Stadium to anyone other than students, and that they wouldn't have been this time had the administration known early enough that every student wanted a ticket to next year's Texas-O.U. game. Rather, most students were so impressed with the novelty of what they termed "stupidity" at waiting in line all night for football tickets, that they curbed their complaints. However, gripes were wild and furious about the overcrowded conditions of the stands during the Texas Aggie tilt in Owen Field the Saturday before. The conditions had resulted from two choice sections of seats in the East Stadium being sold to non-students.

As dawn rolled around, an occasional straggler could be seen looking for a buddy who would let him slip into line. This had been anticipated, though. Early in the evening line-sweaters worked out a system whereby each person was issued a signed card denoting his number in line. After 12 hours of get-acquainted songfests and card games, veterans of the line co-operated in keeping the system above board.

When President Cross came down to view the line, he was immediately barraged with questions of "what're we gonna do about this Owen Field situation?" To the president answered that never again will seats be sold in the East Stadium to anyone other than students, and that they wouldn't have been this time had the administration known early enough that every student wanted a ticket to next year's Texas-O.U. game. Rather, most students were so impressed with the novelty of what they termed "stupidity" at waiting in line all night for football tickets, that they curbed their complaints. However, gripes were wild and furious about the overcrowded conditions of the stands during the Texas Aggie tilt in Owen Field the Saturday before. The conditions had resulted from two choice sections of seats in the East Stadium being sold to non-students.

As dawn rolled around, an occasional straggler could be seen looking for a buddy who would let him slip into line. This had been anticipated, though. Early in the evening line-sweaters worked out a system whereby each person was issued a signed card denoting his number in line. After 12 hours of get-acquainted songfests and card games, veterans of the line co-operated in keeping the system above board.

As dawn rolled around, an occasional straggler could be seen looking for a buddy who would let him slip into line. This had been anticipated, though. Early in the evening line-sweaters worked out a system whereby each person was issued a signed card denoting his number in line. After 12 hours of get-acquainted songfests and card games, veterans of the line co-operated in keeping the system above board.

When President Cross came down to view the line, he was immediately barraged with questions of "what're we gonna do about this Owen Field situation?" To the president answered that never again will seats be sold in the East Stadium to anyone other than students, and that they wouldn't have been this time had the administration known early enough that every student wanted a ticket to next year's Texas-O.U. game. Rather, most students were so impressed with the novelty of what they termed "stupidity" at waiting in line all night for football tickets, that they curbed their complaints. However, gripes were wild and furious about the overcrowded conditions of the stands during the Texas Aggie tilt in Owen Field the Saturday before. The conditions had resulted from two choice sections of seats in the East Stadium being sold to non-students.

As dawn rolled around, an occasional straggler could be seen looking for a buddy who would let him slip into line. This had been anticipated, though. Early in the evening line-sweaters worked out a system whereby each person was issued a signed card denoting his number in line. After 12 hours of get-acquainted songfests and card games, veterans of the line co-operated in keeping the system above board.

When President Cross came down to view the line, he was immediately barraged with questions of "what're we gonna do about this Owen Field situation?" To the president answered that never again will seats be sold in the East Stadium to anyone other than students, and that they wouldn't have been this time had the administration known early enough that every student wanted a ticket to next year's Texas-O.U. game. Rather, most students were so impressed with the novelty of what they termed "stupidity" at waiting in line all night for football tickets, that they curbed their complaints. However, gripes were wild and furious about the overcrowded conditions of the stands during the Texas Aggie tilt in Owen Field the Saturday before. The conditions had resulted from two choice sections of seats in the East Stadium being sold to non-students.

When President Cross came down to view the line, he was immediately barraged with questions of "what're we gonna do about this Owen Field situation?" To the president answered that never again will seats be sold in the East Stadium to anyone other than students, and that they wouldn't have been this time had the administration known early enough that every student wanted a ticket to next year's Texas-O.U. game. Rather, most students were so impressed with the novelty of what they termed "stupidity" at waiting in line all night for football tickets, that they curbed their complaints. However, gripes were wild and furious about the overcrowded conditions of the stands during the Texas Aggie tilt in Owen Field the Saturday before. The conditions had resulted from two choice sections of seats in the East Stadium being sold to non-students.

When President Cross came down to view the line, he was immediately barraged with questions of "what're we gonna do about this Owen Field situation?" To the president answered that never again will seats be sold in the East Stadium to anyone other than students, and that they wouldn't have been this time had the administration known early enough that every student wanted a ticket to next year's Texas-O.U. game. Rather, most students were so impressed with the novelty of what they termed "stupidity" at waiting in line all night for football tickets, that they curbed their complaints. However, gripes were wild and furious about the overcrowded conditions of the stands during the Texas Aggie tilt in Owen Field the Saturday before. The conditions had resulted from two choice sections of seats in the East Stadium being sold to non-students.

When President Cross came down to view the line, he was immediately barraged with questions of "what're we gonna do about this Owen Field situation?" To the president answered that never again will seats be sold in the East Stadium to anyone other than students, and that they wouldn't have been this time had the administration known early enough that every student wanted a ticket to next year's Texas-O.U. game. Rather, most students were so impressed with the novelty of what they termed "stupidity" at waiting in line all night for football tickets, that they curbed their complaints. However, gripes were wild and furious about the overcrowded conditions of the stands during the Texas Aggie tilt in Owen Field the Saturday before. The conditions had resulted from two choice sections of seats in the East Stadium being sold to non-students.
Donald, are only a few of the Sooner City dwellers at the University of Oklahoma. A wedding followed May 8, 1946, making Norman their home, both at the Niemann Apartments at the beginning of the fall term, so most of her money was spent in the hotel for ready cash. Mrs. Robert McDonald, a former WAVE, wife of a Ponca City business junior, cashed her $125 bond and spent it on ends and odds. She traveled from a prefabricated home to the Niemann Apartments at the beginning of the fall term, so most of her money was spent on buying things for their new home. However, just to show hubby, a merchant marine veteran, that she was the one who received the bond, Mrs. McDonald bought a couple of pairs of shoes.

While Mr. Mac goes to school, Mrs. McDonald works as a telephone operator. While serving alone, she was stationed in New York, Kansas, Tennessee, and Norman. She was an aviation machinist mate.

William P. Milne, geology senior from Cornwells, Oregon, and wife Annette, a former WAVE, are expecting a baby. Last year the Milnes were both in school, Bill getting $90 a month and Annette $65 a month subsistence pay. With this income they were adequately provided for. But with the birth of a daughter, Janet, Mrs. Milne had her hands full at home. Thus, with the addition to the family, their income doubled. Probably Bill and Annette feel that they amply earned their bonds. At a time when love would have been enough, they were married, both unmarried and in the European Theater of War. Attempts to obtain passes to visit each other paused only once. That was a three-day pass Bill got while in Belgium. He went to Paris and visited Annette.

A half dozen lemons was the medium which brought Bill and Annette together for the first time. When they were in England, Annette received a package of citrus fruit from home. Having an American girl working in a Red Cross canteen, she took her some of the coveted fruit. She was at the canteen when the young officer from the other units came to get some food for his men. That was the beginning of their love affair.

After the war was over and Annette received orders to return to the states, she stretched the distance allowed on a pass a little by rushing into Belgium and telling her how wonderful it was to be with her. Leut. Baseball Arrington, a few of the Sooner City enlisted men who have found it necessary to cash terminal leave bonds to stay in school. While many are desperately holding on to their bonds, hoping to be able to keep them until maturity, a large number have indicated that they may be forced to cash theirs also.

Roll Call

Continued from page 23

READY-MARTIN: Genevieve Reedy, Norman, became the bride of Clyde Martin, '43eng, Oklahoma City, on September 3. The parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Reedy of the Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity. He is now employed at Tinker Field, Oklahoma City.

SETZER-WILSON: Eleanor Alice Setzer, Oklahoma City, became the bride of Hardy Harry Wilson, '43bus, also of Oklahoma City, in a ceremony read September 26, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are temporarily at home in Oklahoma City.

DREYFUS-KATZ: The nuptial vows for Polly Dreyfus, '42-'43, Ponca City, and Dr. Robert B. Katz, Albuquerque, New Mexico, were read August 21 in Portland, Oregon, where Dr. Katz is practicing medicine.

David N. Newby, '43eng, and Mrs. Newby (Ruth Ann Hummer, '43bus) are the parents of a daughter, Meredith, born August 8. This is the second child for the Newby family.

STOUT-BRUNSTETER: Phyllis Stout, Hazelton, Kansas, became the bride of William E. Brunsteter, '43, Alva, August 21, Mr. Brunsteter also attended Northwestern State College.

MARTIN-NEWPORT: Lucy Margaret Martin, Oklahoma City, became the bride of Earl Lee Newport, '43, Eunice, New Mexico, August 30 in Oklahoma City. Following a wedding trip the couple established a home in Norman where Mr. Martin is associated with the American Military Government for the U.S. sector. Mrs. Martin is a member of Delta Phi, a professional business fraternity, in the School of Business at the University.

Marjorie L. Clark, '43 phys ed, returned to the United States recently after two years in Europe with the Red Cross and has resumed her job at the University. She now occupies the position of assistant professor in physical education.

Lt. John H. Smith, '40-'43, Oklahoma City, is now special investigator for the public safety branch of American Military Government for the U.S. sector at Berlin, Germany.

JACOBSON-ROYS: The wedding of Ruth Pollard Jacobson, Seattle, Washington, and Dr. Harvey Curtis Roys, '43med, Norman, was an event of August 13. The couple established a home in New York where Dr. Roys will begin his studies at the New York postgraduate medical school.

Mrs. Ethel McNatt, '43med, first grade teacher at University Heights school, Oklahoma City, for eight years, is the new principal at Dewey school.

Frank P. Fowle, '41-'43, Norman, recently returned from the national convention of Delta Sigma Pi, professional business fraternity, in Minneapolis, Minnesota. Mr. Fowle is president of the organization.

Mrs. Margaret Stone Harden, '43hec, Charlotte, North Carolina, recently spent several weeks in Oklahoma City visiting relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Harden have two children, a son, Terry Carter, and a daughter, Margaret Karch. Mr. Harden was a member of Delta Gamma Sorority at the University.

Byrum E. Carter, Jr., '43ba, Frederick, is teaching American, French and German government at Indiana University, Bloomington.

Mrs. Lavonnia McArthur Leo, '43bus, and Deverco Leo, are the parents of a son, Robert Darrell, born August 20, in Oklahoma City.

WILSON-COLE: Delta Mae Wilson, Oklahoma City, and Robert G. Cole, '43, also of Oklahoma City, were married September 3 in the rectory of the Corpus Christi Church. Mr. and Mrs. Cole have established a home in Oklahoma City where they are attending Oklahoma City University.

W. R. Baker, Jr., '43eng, and Mrs. Baker, Bridgeport, Connecticut, have established a home in Nashville, Tennessee, where Mr. Baker is serving on the faculty of Vanderbilt University.

---

1944

Marion Reed Lawton, '48ba, Pawhuska, is now teaching Japanese people to speak English in his own school, Lawton Institute of Linguistics, in Los Angeles, California.

Mrs. Mildred Nichols Schroeder, '48ba, Vallejo, California, former editor of the Oklahoma Daily, is now assistant city editor of the Vallejo News.

Chautrice, Following her graduation she was employed on a Baton Rouge, Louisiana, newspaper for the Associated Press.

ERNST-SCOTT: Shirley Joyce Ernst, Wichita, Kansas, and Cleveland Rex Scott, '48ba, Shawnee, exchanged vows in the First Christian Church of Bartlesville August 30. Mr. Scott spent one year at Oklahoma Baptist University, Shawnee, before entering the University.

JEWITT-DALE: Vivian Jewitt, Carney, and George H. Dale, Bartlesville, were married August 30 at the First Methodist Church in Bartlesville.

Dorothy B. Peale, '43ba, has been head of the social studies department at Taft Junior High School, Oklahoma City, for the last eight years.

TREMPUS-ALLEN: Katharyn Barbara Trempe, Springdale, Pennsylvania, became the bride of Rolfe Edward Allen, '44, Lawton, recently.

Lt. Robert E. McCurdy, '43bus, Parcell, has received an appointment to the Fitzsimmons General Hospital, Denver, Colorado. He will be a member of the hospital staff there for the next year. He completed his internship last July at the University of Maryland, Baltimore.

Dr. James Ronald Smith, '43med, Oklahoma City, and Mrs. Smith, have named their daughter Lindsay Lynne. The infant was born August 27 in University Hospital.

S. P. Bird, '43bus, Tulsa, is employed as petroleum engineer for the Amerada Petroleum Company. He formerly lived in Peru.

ROBERTS-QUINLAN: The wedding of Betty Jane Quinlan, '43 from Oklahoma City, and Joseph Wayne Quinlan, '46-'47, Dacoma, was an event of August 31 in Oklahoma City. Mrs. Quinlan was president of the Junior class and vice-president of Mortar Board, she was listed in "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges." She was associated with the U.S. Department of Labor as a research economist. Mr. Quinlan is now a senior law student at U. of O. Mr. and Mrs. Quinlan are at home in Norman.

LAM-SCHULTZ: Wilma Elaine Lam, '46-'47, Oklahoma City, became the bride of James Edward Schultz, '44, '46-'47, Norman, in a ceremony performed August 26 in Oklahoma City. A home has been established in Norman by the couple where Mrs. Schultz is enrolled in the School of Arts and Sciences and Mr. Schultz is a student in the School of Architecture.

---

1945

EDWARDS-MINTER: Betty Edwards, '44-'45, became the bride of Lloyd George Minter, '43aw, both of Oklahoma City, in a ceremony performed August 8. Mr. Minter was a member of Phi Delta Phi, legal fraternity at the University. He is now an attorney for Phillips Petroleum Company.

SHORT-HOOVER: Peggy Lee Short, Oklahoma City, became the bride of Howard F. Hoover, Jr., '45, Duncan, in a ceremony read recently in the home of the bride's brother.

KINNEY-RUSH: Marian Virginia Kinney, '45ba, Houston, Texas, formerly of Oklahoma City, and Thomas Dudley Rush, '45ba, formerly Winter Haven, Florida, were married recently in the home of the bride's parents. Mr. Rush is a member of Delta Gamma Sorority and took graduate work in the University of Chicago, Illinois. Mr. and Mrs. Rush are at home in Columbia, Missouri.

WARDEN-BONE: Essie Wanda Warden, '45ed, Norman, became the bride of John H. Bone, Wichita Falls, Texas, August 22, 1945. Mrs. Bone has been employed in the office of the International Business Machines at Houston for the last two years. Mr. Bone is a graduate of Texas A. and M. College.

Kelly Dean is the name chosen by Mr. and Mrs. Bud Flanagan for their son born September 6. Mrs. Flanagan is the former Helen Stair, '44-'45.