What ruler would not be happy to be deposed by such a charming little miss as Miss Joan Marie Felt, who is just an armful for the erstwhile master of the Felt household, James Wright. They are the children of Wright L. Felt, '16 eng., and Mrs Freda Brown Felt, ex '18, of Westfield, New Jersey, where Mr Felt is chief engineer of the Hope Engineering Co. Joan Marie was born January 18, while James is just five years old. Below is Tom Churchill II, who looks like an Olympics contender at the age of five months. He is the son of Tom Churchill, '30 arts-sc., and Mrs Churchill, of Albuquerque, New Mexico. Tom was born December 22, 1930. Tom is in head basketball coach of the University of New Mexico.

Philip George Phelps, '15 Kingfisher, of Edmond, died at an Oklahoma City hospital April 21 after a brief illness. During the war Mr Phelps was a Y. M. C. A. worker and for three years was secretary of the university extension division. Interment was held in Chicago. Mr Phelps is survived by his widow and three children.

Charles Fulkner, '23 arts-sc., one of the students originating the Oklahoma Union, died April 27 of heart trouble in New York City. When the Y. M. C. A. building burned in 1922, Mr Fulkner and several others started to make the often-talked of project of a Union building for the university a reality. Mr Fulkner was a commercial operative for the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

John Alley, '02 arts-sc., (Kingfisher) director of the school of citizenship and public affairs was elected vice-president of the Southwestern Social Science association at its annual conference held in Oklahoma City recently.

Mrs Walter Ferguson, '07 mus., was to deliver the commencement address May 26 at the Oklahoma College for Women at Chickasha.

Thurman Hurst, '12 law, district judge of the Tulsa-Pawnee counties district, passed an unusual sentence May 9 when he sentenced a boy to attend Sunday school each Sunday for two years. The boy admitted stealing a radio set valued at $100 and would normally have been sent to a reform school. "I think it's a good idea to follow such a policy in cases where the prisoner is young and it is his first offense," Judge Hurst explained. "If we can keep these boys in Sunday school, there will be fewer of them involved in crime. Boys who attend church regularly don't usually land in jail. Too frequently boys sent to a reform school on their first offense only learn to be more confirmed criminals. However, the court can go to extremes in the question of leniency. Where a deliberate intent to commit crime is shown sympathy should not be allowed to interfere with the court's ruling. The idea of sending a person to a penal institution is two-fold: first, to punish the law violator, and to warn society and those persons tending toward criminal intent that punishment awaits them."

Huey P. Long, ex '12, governor of Louisiana and senator elect from that state, has become a stockholder in the Cleveland American League club, the Associated Press announces.

Miana Lee, ex '12, director of national activities for the Woman's party, objects vigorously in an article in the New York World-Telegram to the wholesale dismissal of women from night work jobs in the cotton textile mills. She declares it is sex discrimination, and leaves the victims jobless and facing starvation.

Roy St. Louis, ex '13, United States attorney for the western Oklahoma federal district, was expected to be named assistant United States attorney in charge of admiralty and war risk claims, according to newspaper reports.

WANDERING THROUGH WESTCHESTER

here, I might add a personal touch by telling you that George B. (Deak) Parker, that loyal and renowned Sooner of 1907, has just taken, for himself and family, a beautiful colonial home there. It is quite a way from Deak's place of business (a good hour-and-a-half's ride on the train), but I rather think Deak likes that ride, because there's always a good bridge game going on in the club bar. Right at present, Deak is in California (no, not with Mayor Walker), and, when he returns, he will find his bag and baggage moved from Bronxville to Mt. Kisco, for Adelaide Loomis Parker, 1906, is most efficient when it comes to moving, and she says Deak just gets in her way anyway. Young George B. and Mary Parker are already in school at Scarborough, and they say they love it. Long years ago, Horace Greeley spent much of his time at Mt. Kisco.

We often drive on up to Briarcliff Lodge at Briarcliffe, N. Y., and the natural scenic beauty of the place is a pleasure to see. It is located 'way up on top of a hill, and looks out over one of the most beautiful golf courses I've ever seen. Westchester, you know, is the golf center of the world, having more than 40 golf clubs which are among the most beautifully and well-known in the country. Briarcliff Lodge is one of the old resort hotels, and its socially prominent and distinguished clientele is something to think about. In its old rooms have passed the Vanderbilts, the Astors, the Goulds and the Rockefelleres; and Chauncey Depew spent twenty summers there. It is the famous stopping place for the parents of young ladies in the near-by exclusive girls' schools, such as Mrs. Dow's school at Briarcliffe, Miss Mason's school located at Tarrytown and Miss Fuller's school at Ossining.

And so on we could wander through Westchester, steeped in its rustic beauty and the history of the past; for instance, two miles south of the quaint little village of Katonah is the old homestead, built and occupied by John Jay, the great friend of Washington, and the first chief justice of the United States; and on up to Peekskill, that strategic point during the Revolutionary War. But all things have a beginning and an end, and in closing, let me use a paragraph taken from the White Plains Daily Reporter for February 25, 1925, but which still rings true: "Westchester is not a boom county. Its growth is steady and consistent and as vigorous as anyone could desire. With all their great growth, with all their opportunities, there are no sections of the United States that approach New York City, the center of the world. We of Westchester are almost part of the great metropolis, with the added advantages of being entirely separate from it. The romances of Westchester—there are many of them—where individuals have grasped their opportunities and realized them up, are as numerous as can be found anywhere in the country, although they have not been so well 'press-agented.'"
