The Campus Review

A new feature of registration was the photographing of every freshman student to complete personnel records in the offices of the dean of men and women’s counselor, and for identification purposes.

New faculty members

Thirty new names appeared on the faculty roster as school opened this Fall, many of them alumni of the University.

The O. U. graduates who are new additions to the faculty are W. C. Bednar, ’35, assistant professor of petroleum engineering; Ivin G. Richardson, ’17, assistant professor of business communication; Cecil G. Lalicker, ’30, ’32ms, assistant professor of geology; C. Guy Brown, assistant professor of commercial education; C. C. Bush, assistant professor of social sciences; Thelma Walker, instructor in home economics; Robert Whitehand, ’33, instructor in drama; Mildred Andrews, ’37fa, instructor in music; Mrs. Grace Norris Davis, instructor in modern languages; and Glenn M. Stearns, ’36eng, assistant professor of petroleum engineering.
Forrest O. Bean, associate professor ofслов; Martin S. Shockey, assistant professor of chemistry; Charles C. Walcutt, assistant professor of English; Capt. W. J. Crowe, assistant professor of military science and tactics; Dr. O. J. Eigsti, assistant professor of botany; Fritz Frauchiger, assistant professor of French; and German; Major Charles H. Brammell, assistant professor of military science and tactics; Dr. William C. Randels, assistant professor of mathematics; Captain Lindsey R. Wingfield, assistant professor of military science and tactics; Joseph C. Pray, instructor in government; James C. Van de Carr, special instructor in mathematics; D. O. Holland, instructor in engineering drawing; Leroy O. Smith, instructor in accounting; Dr. Lloyd W. Daly, instructor in classical languages; and Leonard H. Haug, instructor in music education.

Son of alumni honored

The annual P-eet award to the most outstanding first year male student of the previous year was given in September to Tom Boyd, Jr., Norman, son of Dr. Tom Boyd, '17, and Mrs. Boyd, who also attended the University.

The award is made by a faculty committee on a basis of scholastic record, character, personality, intellectual interests, intellectual promise and leadership.

Young Boyd's grade average for his freshman year was 2.9. He was president of all his classes in Norman High School, lettered in track in high school, and won prizes for the chickens he raised as a result of vocational agriculture work; he took in high school.

He plans to become a mechanical engineer.

Carter county club

Under the leadership of Kenneth Har ris, men's council president, a group of students from Carter County planned to call a meeting in September for organization of a Carter County Student Association. Harris estimated that two hundred students from Ardmore and other parts of Carter County would be enrolled in the University this year.

Tentative plans call for co-operation with the Carter County alumni organization in the selection of several outstanding Carter County students to receive honor awards—perhaps the outstanding freshman, the outstanding senior and the outstanding athlete.

The group plans to hold one or two events on the campus during the school year at which Carter County alumni would be special guests. These probably will be held on the occasion of football games or other events of special interest to alumni.

New date rule

After more than a decade of somewhat unsuccessful effort to enforce a new rule that prohibited any social engagement—even "coke dates"—for students on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights, the University began the new school year with liberalized rules.

Generally speaking, the new rules permit dates any night in the week for upperclassmen, but freshmen may have dates only on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights.

Under the new rules, all women students still are required to be in their houses by 11:50 p.m. on Friday and Saturday nights, and by 10:20 p.m. on all other nights.

New rush system used

More even distribution of pledges among the various sorority chapters was noted in September when the first rush was held under the new rule limiting the size of chapters. An arbitrary limit of sixty-five members and pledges was set by Panhellenic, thus giving each chapter a definite quota of bids to give rush. Apparently no chapter was really hurt by the new system, and many chapters were obviously benefited since the quota system prevented domination by a few of the currently strongest sororities.

The official sorority pledge list is as follows:
