whose swan song resulted from leather shortage. Successor is a slick-looking civilian cut trouser which appeared more flattering on most of the R.O.T.C. boys. . . .
War didn't shorten the list of Greek pledges as both fraternities and sororities scored an increase in neophytes over last year. Sororities pinned ribbons on 227 pledges, while fraternities gathered 290 into the fold.

War Loans Available
The U. S. Office of Education last month approved the University for participation in the student war loan program recently established to speed training in the technical and professional fields of wartime importance.

The University will receive $24,886 of the total $5,000,000 allocated by Congress for student war loans in a bill passed July 2. Students, either men or women, to be eligible, must be majoring in engineering, chemistry, physics, medicine or pharmacy.

Other qualifications include ability to complete college work in two years or 24 months after the first loan, agreement to participate in the wars of the United States in service designated by the War Manpower Commission and need for financial assistance.

The maximum amount for which a student may be eligible is tuition and compulsory fees, plus $25 per month. If the student is called to armed service, the loan is canceled automatically.

New Staff for Daily
Embroidled last spring in a payroll and censorship fight between student reporters and journalism faculty members, the Oklahoma Daily opened its 28th year last month in comparative serenity.

At the start, there were 16 members of the newly formed staff. The rewrite staff, composed principally of junior and sophomore students in the School of Journalism, has been expanded to 24 members.

At the start, there were 16 members of the newly formed staff. The rewrite staff, composed principally of junior and senior students in the School of Journalism, has been expanded to 24 members.

Under the new plan, tenures of staff members were shortened to half a semester with arrangements that some members might succeed themselves once. Due to the wartimeslash in advertising, Daily format was cut to tabloid size.

Reserve Program at O. U.
Officers representing various branches of the armed forces spent several days on the University campus in early September, talking with men students, eligible to be drafted soon, about signing up for reserve classes.

Reserve enlistment programs, whereby students are allowed to finish college studies and then enter officers training schools, have been set up on the campus by the Navy, Army and Marines. All three services have opened their ranks to freshmen, sophomore, junior and senior students.

C. E. Springer, mathematics professor who was appointed co-ordinator of the reserve enlistment program, has charge of Army reserve enlistments.

F a c u l t y

► Homer L. Dodge, dean of the graduate school and director of the Oklahoma Research Institute, became director of the Office of Scientific Personnel of the National Research Council, Washington, D. C., in September. He was granted a year's leave of absence by the University. Mr. Dodge's office will cooperate with the War and Navy Departments and the Selective Service in the effective use of scientifically trained personnel in the war effort.

► Resigning for the duration his position as director of the Bureau of Business Research, Findley Weaver last month became senior price economist in the Office of Price Administration, Dallas. Mr. Weaver has had nationwide recognition for his studies in marketing and business since joining the University faculty in 1932.

► Eugene Springer, professor of mathematics, was appointed faculty armed service co-ordinator by President Brandt early this fall. Mr. Springer serves as official adviser for students entering active service or any one of the reserve programs.

► David K. Spadling, '41 law, has been added to the staff of the College of Business Administration as assistant professor of business law. Mr. Spadling is a former Waurika attorney and newspaper publisher at Ringling and Wilson.

► A former R.O.T.C. commandant is mentioned several times in the new best-seller, See Here, Private Hargrove, an important commentary on the life of a rookie, written by a sympathetic editor for students entering active service or any one of the reserve programs.

► Major Haddock, 3rd Infantry, has moved to Washington, D. C., where he has been appointed assistant professor of military science and tactics, an instructor of World War I, and has seen service in both the Infantry and the Army Air Corps. Before joining the R.O.T.C. staff this fall, Major Haddock was military science instructor in the Guthrie High School.

► Maj. Garth B. Haddock, newly appointed assistant professor of military science and tactics, is a veteran of World War I, and has seen service in both the Infantry and the Army Air Corps. Before joining the R.O.T.C. staff this fall, Major Haddock was military science instructor in the Guthrie High School.

► Vernon Baker and Jack McDaniel, both graduates of Phillips University, Enid, have been appointed assistants in the department of physics.

► Spencer Norton's Dance Suite was played by the National Symphony Orchestra at a Pan-American concert in Washington, D. C., recently. Mr. Norton, professor of music, has gained wide recognition for this composition since it was first played by the University Symphony Orchestra in 1940.

► William E. Livezey, assistant professor of history, and Mrs. Livezey have chosen the name Eloise Beth for their baby daughter born last August.

► Stella Sanders, '26ma, assistant professor of Romance languages, attended the University of Mexico, Mexico City, last summer.

► Mrs. Henry D. Rinsland, '36c, formerly on the faculty of the College of Education, has moved to Washington, D. C., where Major Rinsland, '24ma, former education professor, is stationed with the War Department.

► Clarence Frost, '31journ, member of the School of Journalism faculty last year, is the new news editor of the Chickasha Express. He was formerly a newspaperman at Hobart.

► Wilson Wikbthe, small red-haired son of Virge Wilhite, associate professor of economics, was adopted into the Sac and Fox Indian tribe and given the name Charging Buffalo, in ceremonies at Shawnee this fall.

► Miss Rosa Louise Stimbert, of Milwaukee, and W. A. Willibrand, associate professor of modern languages, were married August 20 at Colorado Springs, Colorado. Mrs. Willibrand attended school in Mexico and France, and she has taught in this country and abroad. Mr. Willibrand is associ-
A student at the University, Lieutenant Giffin was a photographer for the Daily Oklahoman and Oklahoman Times. He is editor of the Wogan, campus humor magazine.

A fund to provide books, musical instruments and so forth for American soldiers who are prisoners of war was started by Mrs. Isamah M. Kitchens, Sakskawa, mother of Lt. Gus Kitchens, '38-42, who was reported missing in action in the Pacific Theater. whereabouts of Lieutenant Kitchens, former Sooner football player, was uncertain, as he was awarded the Silver Star for heroism in June after he was reported missing.

Lt. Com. Alton C. Abernethy, '36med, is on duty active with the Naval Medical Corps. Ensign Mac Otts Boring, Jr., '37eng, has recently received his commission in the Naval Reserve.

Theodore J. Bried, '42law, Oklahoma City, is in the Army Air Force.

Capt. Lloyd W. Taylor, '41med, has been transferred to Ellington Field, Texas.

Capt. Alton Coy Abernethy, '30med, is on active duty with the Naval Medical Corps. Ensign Mac Otts Boring, Jr., '37eng, has recently received his commission in the Naval Reserve.

Ensign Bill Walter Jones, '40bus, Bartlesville, has been commissioned in the Naval Reserve.

Orville Mathews, '42ed, former University football and track star, now in the Coast Guard, participated recently in the Third Naval District track meet at Brooklyn and clipped off the hundred-yard dash in 10.5.

Lt. Sherrill W. White, '31ba, Oklahoma City, has been commissioned in the Marine Corps, with administrative duties in the aviation branch.

Capt. Floyd A. Calvert, '36law, an executive officer in the Military Intelligence division, received his captaincy in April. Before entering the service, he was an attorney in Olney, Illinois.

Earle A. Casey, '35med, is with the Medical Corps and serves as a medical officer.

Tommy Collins, '41letters, traffic manager and head continuity writer for radio station WFGP in Atlantic City, New Jersey, expected to go into active service in later days.

Lt. Carroll H. Daulton, '40bus, is on duty at the headquarters of the Second Army Corps.

Dr. Herman Mark Grimm, '25med, who is stationed at Pearl Harbor, is on leave of absence and is visiting in the United States.

Faculty (CONTINUED FROM PAGE 9)

Theodore H. Smith, professor of marketing, has been appointed chairman of the Bureau of Business Research, succeeding Findley Weaver.

A paper on A. E. Housman's poem '1887 was read by C. C. Walcutt, associate professor of English, at the fourth annual invitation meeting of the English Institute at Columbia University, New York, early in September.

Francis R. Hunter, assistant professor of physiology, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army Air Corps. He is serving in the Air Force indoctrination program of aviation physiology.

Theodore H. Smith, professor of marketing, has been appointed chairman of the Bureau of Business Research, succeeding Findley Weaver.

Norman F. Williams, '39eng, and Thomas F. Ewing, '38bus, of the R.O.T.C. staff, have been promoted to captains.

H. C. Petersen, associate professor of history, has been granted a leave of absence in order to accept a commission as lieutenant in the Army Air Corps. Stationed at Miami Beach, Florida, he is training as an instructor.

Balfour Whitney, '32ba, '33ma, and S. B. Townes, '23ba, '25ma, both of the mathematics faculty, left during August to go into officers' training at Miami Beach, Florida.

A paper on A. E. Housman's poem '1887 was read by C. C. Walcutt, associate professor of English, at the fourth annual invitation meeting of the English Institute at Columbia University, New York, early in September.

Francis R. Hunter, assistant professor of physiology, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army Air Corps. He is serving in the Air Force indoctrination program of aviation physiology.

Theodore H. Smith, professor of marketing, has been appointed chairman of the Bureau of Business Research, succeeding Findley Weaver.

Norman F. Williams, '39eng, and Thomas F. Ewing, '38bus, of the R.O.T.C. staff, have been promoted to captains.

H. C. Petersen, associate professor of history, has been granted a leave of absence in order to accept a commission as lieutenant in the Army Air Corps. Stationed at Miami Beach, Florida, he is training as an instructor.