

You told me that once Crazy Horse fooled the soldiers and scared them off when he was almost alone, by riding around them and showing himself at different places so that they thought they were surrounded. Where did this happen? When?