

Hunt Beef

and chase her for about a mile and ~~under~~ the other two horses placed out then W.B. had a good horse and finally bought her and kill her ~~it~~ it was ~~way over the mill~~

The next buffalo W.B. ever killed at one time was 11. W.B. and another reached the herd first W.D. had a #4 shot rifle as soon as he reached the herd he started to shoot he killed four with quick and the other did not a little while. He used only #4 shot, they shot at the ribs of a buffalo they ~~do~~ all ways ~~do~~ shot ~~can~~ they want hide. It is better on a cow.

The reason they ~~want~~ that cows was that the women had all the Bull hides they wanted and need ~~the~~ cow hides (the women)

It was very cold and some get some and some none at all.

Some of the Indian got one or two and some went to help butcher W.B. had two men helping him and they would get some of the meat but none of the hide they would burrow a hide into pack the meat in, a horse would carry about 1/4 a buffalo and W.B. had 5 pack horses. When they start bunching they cut on the middle of the back and ~~to~~ pull all they could that way a ~~then~~ turn it over and slit its belly and then slice the meat from the neck to the rear hump in one place that is packed on one horse with half of the hide draped over ~~the~~ the other part kept the head is packed on another horse. The two things in Indians like most is the liver and kidney. Even now that help get 1/4 some places the helper would get 1/2 when he got home about 1/2 the 11 W.B. had.

The Bull meat is tupper W.B. saw a man shot a buffalo on foot when W.B. was 10 yrs old it was west of Slim Bittles.

W.B. has hunted buffalo with a bow and arrow. There the most he ~~has~~ killed with bow and arrow.

This time there was a little snow and W.D. was on a good horse they reached the buff and started to shoot. While he was in the dead and when he got there he shot a buff and the snow went up to the fetters and shot 8 arrows & got 4 buff. then his hands got cold so he pick up snow and rubbed his hands. He was 24 yrs old it was ~~just~~ this side of Arrow Cr at the battle where
