

I wish you would answer these questions about the fight where they killed 100 soldiers.

1. Do you know the names of the Sioux scouts sent forward to lead the soldiers out of the fort to where you were? If so, what were their names?

Sorry I didn't remember their name. There were six of them.

2. How many Indians were in that war party?

I can't say how many of them but any way there several hundred warriors.

3. You told me you kept hidden until the soldiers came near. Were you hidden in the brush, or long grass, or timber, or in a draw?

On both sides they were behind hills.

4. What men were close to you while you were waiting for the soldiers to come near?

Fine Weather, Thunder With Horns, Long Forelock, Little Bear, Runs Against, 4 of them.

5. Did you say anything to anybody while you were waiting for the soldiers to come near? What did you say? I want to know what you talked about, if you remember.

I told the others we must start. They are about between us. Then they all start.

6. When the soldiers came near, the cavalry were in front. Is that right?

No. The cavalry were coming last.

7. You told me that the Oglala and Cheyennes began the fight. You told me they were farther away from the soldiers than the Minniconjou. How did it happen they got there first?

I don't remember saying this. The three bands were all in mixed but when they start the them Thunder Hawk got through first and struck one.

He is a mnikowojui. The second was a minkowojie too.

8. Did the Minniconjou rush the cavalry, or the foot-soldiers first?

They rush the foot soldiers first.
