

get accustomed to the new ways. One thing is certain. You and us will never fight each other as we used to for we have given up our arms.

This dance is a dance of our forefathers. By this dance much good feeling is stimulated. So let us have some enjoyment while we may and remember henceforth let us live as friends and relatives and not as enemies.

With a glad heart we shake hands with you."