

mysterious way and this animal may be sent to convey a message to us."

And sure enough, upon our arrival home, there was sickness in my nuclear family, my family and my brothers family though, glad to say, not very seriously, to alarm us.

This was the first time in my life that I had learned, of the coyote's hooting, whistling and howling as a sign of sickness in family.