Dear Sir:

I noticed the enclosed clipping in the Des Moines Sunday Register, and was interested in it, for I had lived a number of years in at about the Standing Rock Indian Reservation near Mobridge, S.D., at Ft. Yates N.D., near where Sitting Bull spent his last days and when he was killed.

My uncle T. J. Thompson an early pioneer in that section was a civilian packer until the troops sent to capture Sitting Bull at the time he was killed by the Indian police.
He assisted in loading his remains to Ft. Yates and acted
