My dear Mr. Campbell, - I have your note this morning carrying the information that you have an article on Sitting Bull in Adventure. I shall get a copy of the magazine and write the editor my reactions.

As soon as your volume comes out I shall give it some good publicity in this territory. So many writers have called Sitting Bull a "coffee cooler" and other derogatory titles that the ordinary reader accepts the characterization as correct because it is undenied, and even unchallenged. They will have to come over way when confronted by the facts.

Thanking you for calling my attention to the article,

I am
Very sincerely yours,
Lewis J. Crawford
