Dear Sir:-

I have yours of the 17th relative to photos, maps and data on certain Indian battles. Yes, I have a considerable lot of material, but being in the writing game myself I expect to make use of them. I have been over most the ground you mention.

The late W.M. Camp, an old friend of mine, has a lot of material, but his wife refuses to sell any of it. Camp probably had more data on Indian fights than any other living person--at least so concede old army officers who fought in the engagements of the '70s.

I have one of the largest collections of old Indian and frontier photographs in the country, army posts, officers, battle sites etc. It is for sale, if anybody has the price.

Sincerely yours,

E. A. Brininstool
