

Nov 8, 1928.

Mr. Robert Lindeneux,
Denver, Colorado.

Dear Sir:

The State Historical Society of Colorado has suggested that you may be able to help me in a search for fresh material about Sitting Bull, the Sioux Indian, at one time an employee of Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show. If you can, I'll certainly thank you. It is my plan to publish something about this Indian, and if I do, I shall be glad to give you full credit for any facts or stories you can give me.

No matter how slight the fact may be, it will be helpful. For often the smallest facts become significant when in relation to others. Anything Sitting Bull is known to have said or done, any peculiarities of habit or dress are of interest to me. If you met the man, I am sure your impressions would be valuable, since as an artist you would penetrate his character.

Please help me if you can.

Sincerely yours,

W S Campbell
("Stanley Vestal")

P.S.

Can you give me the names of any old-timers who may have known Sitting Bull?