Dear Mr. Campbell:

Thank you very much indeed for the copy of your new book Sitting Bull - and for the inscription in the front. I am really delighted and have enjoyed it very much.

Years ago in Boston (I'm a transplanted New Englander) I used to know Crazy Bull (Bill Jacobs). He was a Hunkpapa (Two Kettle, I believe) and he claimed to be a grandson of Sitting Bull. This may have been for publicity purposes only - I really don't know - as Bill earned his living giving talks in full regalia, with songs and sign language - many of them through our Episcopal Speakers' Bureau. Bill gave me a copy of the Ghost Dance music arranged by Harold Loring. It is to me one of the saddest of melodies - one can sense the sorrow & hopelessness of the Sioux. I am sure I still have it, and if you do not
