Mr. John C. Ewers
Division of Anthropology
National Museum
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. Ewers:

As you may recall, while in Washington I discovered a list of the names of Cheyenne Indians killed at the fight where Custer fell. I have the list but seem to have lost the name of the source of this information, which I need for a revision of my life of Sitting Bull soon to be reprinted.

If you can handily put your finger on this piece of information, I shall be grateful for it.

My book entitled THE BOOK LOVER'S SOUTHWEST, A GUIDE TO GOOD READING, will be off the press here at the University Press in June.

I look forward to seeing your book on the horse among the Blackfeet.

I wish you a prosperous and happy New Year.

Yours cordially,

W. S. CAMPBELL
