

December 23, 1929.

Mr. Albert Bloomer, Platteville, Wisconsin.

Dear Sir:

Thanks very much for your kind letter about sitting bull. May I ask one more question? What clothing, if any, was upon his body when you took charge of it? What wounds did you see? How was he lying - on his face or his back?
In what direction was his head? How far from the house?
Was the snow deep? I would like to know everything you recall about this incident. Of course I will give you full credit for your information in my book.

Sincerely yours,

J. C. Caldwell.
