ed in the Country Gentleman of July or March 1928. The title as I recall was "Romantic Days on the Missouri River". It is remarkable how little credit has been given the stevedores and "bull whackers" for the part they played in making it possible to settle the great North West. It was a hard job getting supplies to Bismarck and distributing them through the country when there were no roads or trails. If you should ever be in St. Louis look me up at 400 Washington Ave. or at 570 E. Man-roe Kentwood St. Louis County.

Very truly
