Norman, Oklahoma.

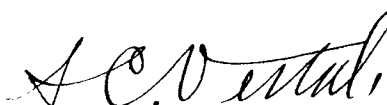

Dear Professor Campbell:

under two separate covers I am sending to you to-day a number of prints giving information about the battlefield where Colonel Fetterman's command was destroyed. I trust the information will be ample for your purpose.

I am now on duty with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and I therefore had to write to Washington for the information which you desired. It was slow in coming and hence the delay in answering your letter. I have sent for the life of "Sitting Bull" but it has been slow in coming also, and I therefore cannot give you my reaction to the book. I look forward with pleasure to reading it and am sure, from the reviews that I have read in the New York Times and elsewhere, that it will be a delightful book.

Thanking you for naming me as one of your informants and with best regards, I am

Sincerely yours,

S. C. VESTAL.
