

Moorehead - 185-93: cont'd.

"The black gown is my friend," rejoined Sitting Bull, "and I will do this for him; I will put away both my wifes, and the black gown will get me a white wife."

"The Bishop gave him up as incorrigible, and the old chief retained both his wives to the end."