Dear Professor:

Pardon me for my tardiness in answering your last letters. I was sick for several weeks and then came the awful ordeal of moving. I had to go over, it seemed, a million sketches, studies, pictures, etc. etc. etc. the work and accumulation of more than twenty years of hard work. I now have a little more spare time, though the actual change of residence is yet to come (probably in July) - I shall let you know my new address in due time.

Now to take up the subjects of our correspondence in due order.

As to the Indian Question, I decided to wait till the annual reports of the U. S. Board of Indian Commissioners (Washington D. C.) and the Indian Rights Association
