

Louisville, Ky. July 31, 1928

Deer Park Ave. 1970

Dear Campbell:

Many thanks for your information concerning Indian photos but I received a letter yesterday from the publisher who was interested in them that he had already received what he wanted from another source (probably from some American museum).

I certainly am sorry you cant be in Louisville until "late in August", as you write, because I have already made arrangements to be in St. Charles, Mo. about August¹⁵ until about Sept, 7. Since I am to meet friends there who in their turn can be there only at that time a change of dates is hardly feasible.

Before the first week of August friends from Philadelphia have announced their visit. Cant you be here during the second week? If not, how about your return trip to the East?if you intend to spend the winter or next summer there.

Or, could you not come to Louisville, say any time after Sept 3 ?

I would then make arrangements to be back by that time.

Please think it over and let me know as soon as you come to a definite decision.

Looking at the map, Louisville ought not to be much out of the way on your way to Oklahoma, though for you it will also be a question of roads of which the good ones are not very numerous in this state. But the roads from here to Nashville or to St. Louis (which you would probably take) are said to be good.

Hoping to hear from you soon,

yours, as always,

Fredrick Weygold
