

The Horse

But with the advent of the horse, which fed itself, & did not eat me for which no meat need be killed, & which multiplied rapidly on the ~~more weight~~ grass plains, for more speed & baggage became possible — Tifois grew in size — by the ~~time~~ ^{end} of 19th century — the average tifo on the plains measured 16, 18 or 20 feet in dia. And in ~~some~~ ^{some} ~~places~~ ^{places} there were ~~22 feet~~ ^{22 feet} mention 'Blackfoot long horns' tifo's —

25 or 30 feet across.