

write to you, for surely you could help me. Will you help me get a copy of "Warpath"? I am willing to pay and would like it complete with pictures and maps.

I know this is a lot to ask of a complete stranger but if you can't help me who can?

My second reason for this letter is to thank you for writing the books and stories you did. I already said I liked them. I would also like to write you concerning etiquette among the Indians. By this I mean seating in the teepee, questioning about ones family, deeds and other things. Since you have lived among the Indians you can probably help me, if you will.

If you will help me please answer. If you cannot please answer anyway. Thank you.

Respectfully,
John A. Falck

P.S. Please excuse any misspelled words or incorrect grammar.