of proud defiance + power, a second glance discovers the pallor of dissipation and the shrunken skin of the old"

The same face appears in Plate 205, p. 104, Letter + notes 1841 "Red Jacket (Sa-go-ye-wat-ha), Head Chief of the Senecas" ~~with~~ with Niagara Falls as background. The full figure is shown here + the left forefinger points at the falls. The other arm hangs down. The arms are not folded This? portrait (or rather the earlier one) was painted when Cathin gave his powder horn to Red Jacket,
