

From these random suggestions I have tried to give you some of the things I have learned the hard way. As I say, some of this you know or could readily find out for yourself without difficulty. I have got these ideas together perhaps more to give myself the satisfaction of feeling useful than because I think you will find them helpful. But at any rate, here they are.

The object of the war is victory.

Yours cordially,

W. S. Campbell

WSC:jy