

A black and white woodcut-style illustration of a Native American man in a canoe on a lake. The man, with a feathered headdress and a fringed garment, is seated in a small, pointed canoe, holding a paddle. He is looking towards the right. The lake is calm, with ripples around the canoe. In the background, a dense forest of evergreen trees lines the shore, and a large, snow-capped mountain rises in the distance under a cloudy sky. The foreground shows a rocky shoreline with some vegetation.

Angus Ransome

John White

Richmond and Launce
Harvard god

Billy Brown

Bill
Clark

As an Akwesasne Mohawk, I will do my best to:

I will look upon the outdoors as a heritage, a gift of the Great Spirit to his Red Children for them to use and enjoy. I will keep my trash and waste out of Mother Earth's waters, meadows, forests and trails.

I will build my fire where it will do no harm - Where it will not spread and I will make certain that it is out before I leave it.

I will treat Mother Earth with respect. I will not destroy my animal and bird Brothers needlessly or for the joy of killing nor will I mark or destroy the forests and plants that grow upon Mother Earth. I will remember that use of the gifts of Mother Earth is a privilege I can lose by abuse.

I will practice good conservation of the Earth, the animals, the birds, the fish, the plant life of this land and I will urge others to do the same. I will use sportsmanlike methods in my outdoor activities, will be far-sighted during the number of days that the Good Spirit has given me to walk upon this Earth.

Arthur Jacobs
Paul Thompson

and
Cook
E. Lynn Jackson
Philip C. Cook

D11
 Alice Langford
 Cook
 Emil Hoffmann
 W. C. Warner
 4/1

100

W. H. C. C.

Edeline
Kazor