

March 14 - 1927. 10 a.m.

Fine day, clear and pleasant - No news so far -
 No one stirring much -
 The school only jiggling away -

From Rabelais - Vol 2 - page 171 - see

Diamant - Faux - or means false lover - or or one who has forsaken the other of 2 souls in one -

Therefore, be true and confident of me - or you are that you have fingers & that they are at your bidding at all times -

This day, the 14th of March 1927 - passed off fine only wind rather stiff - No news of any kind - Too lonesome indeed - too much so to be pleasant - yet all moves along slowly as usual -

Wrote Pine, at Washington to-day this a.m. for a book -

The official Register of the United States - it expect came about 4-4-1927 - my letter dated 3-12-1927 -

My rights to Pension of $ 80.00 per mo. I am awaiting day after day - whatever the amount - great or small - My helpers from old age will save me from attacks that may be made by design -
