

(3) At this time now that we have just lost a leading industry with its accompanying population and large payroll goes refused to all other industries and raised in price to consumers it would seem that folly could not have chosen a more inappropiate time or object for its display than to spring a hospital on our long suffering people.