

Rendering Their yearning for <sup>the</sup> unfortunate can thus find individual encouragement and traverse the grand highway to happiness. Try it.

Of all the enemies that ever cast themselves across the pathway of a city's march the most disastrous is the official who ignorantly or wilfully mispends its revenues or affords aid and comfort to the scoundrel or visionary who adds to its fruitless debts. He is the enemy of business & labor the grave digger of City-hopes the moth that destroys honey and bee together. Away with him. And away with his parasites!
