

Bulletin of the Taylor Society

A Society to Promote the Science of Management

VOL. II, No. 6

[Copyrighted 1916, by the
Taylor Society]

JANUARY, 1917

SINGLE COPY $1.00
PER YEAR 2.50

OFFICERS OF THE SOCIETY

President (1917) Harlow S. Person, Hanover, N. H. Treasurer (1917) H. K. Hathaway, 18th and Hamilton Sts., Philadelphia, Pa.
Vice-President (1917) Morris L. Cooke, 401 West Walnut Lane, Germantown, Pa.
Vice-President (1918) George D. Babcock, H. H. Franklin Mfg. Co., Syracuse, N. Y.
Secretary (1917) Henry W. Shelton, 35 College St., Hanover, N. H. Dwight V. Merrick (1918) 34 Gramercy Park, New York City.

MEMBERS OF THE GOVERNING BOARD

All the officers, ex-officio.

Arthur E. Barter (1917), Norwood, Mass.

Dwight V. Merrick (1918) 34 Gramercy Park, New York City.

PLANNING POWER-PLANT WORK¹

By WALTER N. POLAKOV.²

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Introduction.

1. Object: To outline the organization capable of planning the power-plant work so as to attain predetermined results.
2. Elements of planning:
 1. Securing necessary knowledge.
 2. Making the knowledge available.
 3. Making the knowledge applicable.
 4. Observing the attained results from application of knowledge.
3. Actual cases: Illustrated by three diagrams showing the results accomplished through planning.

Securing the Knowledge.

4. Dogmatic and scientific methods.
5. Scientific investigations and their object.
6. Necessity of permanent carrying of investigations.
7. Neglected features of research work in plants.
- 7a. Examples of results of power-plant investigations.

Making the Knowledge Available.

8. Instructing and training employee as management's duty. Examples of Instruction Cards.

¹An address before the Taylor Society at the annual meeting, New York, December 8 and 9, 1916.

²Consulting Engineer, New York.

9. Instructions without training futile.
10. Necessity of permanently carried training.
11. Examples of results of systematic training.
12. Selection and training of new and old employee.

Making the Knowledge Applicable.

13. Importance of inducement for learning new way.
14. Two ways to induce: forcing and leading.
15. Review of different inducement methods.
16. Maintenance of conditions permitting proper application of methods (hygiene, fatigue, etc.)
17. Maintenance of equipment permitting carrying instructions (upkeep in first-class order, schedules.)
18. Maintenance of quality of supplies and readjustment of task with change of conditions.
19. Store service.

Observing the Results.

20. Recording of causes as source of judging results.
21. Following up every case of failure and remedies.
22. Functional assignment of duties.
23. Classification of expenses.
24. Predetermination of expenses.
25. Graphical analysis of performance.
26. Summary.