

Life returned to normal this week-end. Saturday I took Winterhawk and Abraham to the library. My motto is one book a week for them. I was supposed to attend an event for Ann Richards in Texas but I simply did not feel well enough to go.

Hope to see you again sometime soon in a less hectic environment.

With warm personal regards,

Wilma P. Mankiller
Principal Chief