

As co-author of the book "Mankiller; a Chief and Her People," it was clear to me from the beginning of work on this autobiography that a film including biographical information about Chief Mankiller was already in progress well before we began work on the book. Therefore, I claim no interest in film rights to autobiographical information about Chief Mankiller. However, if at any time, direct quotes from the book are used, I expect to be credited as co-author of the "Mankiller" book.
