

tribal government is actually extinguished.

Bonaparte holds that congress was acting within its power in all these cases.