

their tracks. And when they buried this husband and wife, they just dug a hole in the ground and put their heads toward South. Then later they got their directions and all the other graves are pointed westward.

(Oh, I see. Well, Mr. Groundhog I certainly thank you for letting me interview you this afternoon.)

You're quite welcome, Faye.

MAKES A CORRECTION OF A STATEMENT MADE CONCERNING ATTORNEY GENERAL

(I appreciate it very much and you've been very helpful. Thank you. (Spoken in Cherokee). )

(Oh yes, Mr. Groundhog there was one other question I wanted to ask you before you leave if you don't mind. I know you're in a hurry.)

Yes, I'd like to make another statement. I think I said which I mean when I was speaking about the asphalt fixing suit. If I said Attorney General, I would ask for an apology because I meant to say, the U.S. District judge, Luther Bohannon, I believe is his name, that is denying to discuss this suit and he is feeling that adjustment should be made to the tax-payers or spending their money for good causes. And if this were dismissed the tax-payers would be let down. According to the U.S. District Judge, there will be a hearing in the near future. And this price of this law suit seems to be that 5.1 million dollars against the settlement of this asphalt.

(Oh, I see. Yes, I think you did say the Attorney General and you mean the District Judge then is going to review the case?)

Yes, the U.S. District Judge.

APPOINTMENT OF WALTER HICKLE, SECRETARY OF INTERIOR

(I see. Well, what I wanted to ask you about, I forgot while ago. I was just wondering what are your feelings as an Indian person about the appointment of the former Governor of Alaska, Walter J. Hickle, as Secretary of the Interior. He was the choice of President Nixon. However I believe they had a vote on his appointment and I think Senator Harris of Oklahoma, voted against him.
