

Yeah, well I think so, yeah. I don't have no trouble with them myself. I get along pretty good.

(Well how has the service been up here at this hospital recently? Up here at Hastings?)

At Hastings?

(Un-huh)

All right. I guess.

WORKMAN COMPENSATION - LEG INJURY

It's my right leg. I haven't got no strength in this leg.

(And you did that at work?)

Yeah, I got it hurt working for Phillips Chemical Co. up in Texas.

(Phillips Chemical Co.? Is that related in any way to Phillips Petroleum Co.?)

Yes, that's right.

(Oh. It is. Oh! That's Chief of the Cherokees right?)

Yeah, when I got hurt they laid me off.

(Did they pay you for having been injured? I mean like workmen's compensation?)

Yes, yeah.

(Do you still draw it?)

Yeah. They had everything set up and completed for ten thousand dollars.

So we didn't have to go through court. All I have to do is sign the agreement and things.

(Oh, that was sorta a private agreement they made up with you? They didn't want to go through court, huh?)

No, I guess not. Well, I guess it might have been alright just the way it went because I didn't have no money to fight with.

(I see, but you signed a private agreement with them.)

Yes, that's right.
