

No, the young ones.

(If they had more Cherokee.)

Yeah, that's what I think.

(You mean in the schools or--?)

Well, that's what I tell my boys. My boys, you ought to practice. That's the way they learn is to practice.

(Do you think if they Cherokee in the schools at the beginning, like actually have lessons?)

Yeah.

(That would help out?)

Yeah, I think they ought to talk both languages in the schools. That's what I think.

(Because it's creating a hardship on the parents, isn't it?)

Yeah.

(And the grandparents. I see--.)

That's what I think.

(Well, I sure thank you for talking to me this after noon and maybe sometime again when you're not busy, we can talk some more.)

Alright. Thank you.

(End of interview.)
