

Well, I go with mine and there are three stores down town that we know of that we can go to and I don't know about the other stores.

(Well I had heard of one incident out here where the teacher took care of this--they make fifty cents off of each student per month. So you know if they have got a 150 students on CCF that can kinda add up over a school year.

So it's not really volunteer work and I had heard that she (referring back to the teacher mentioned above) insisted that they go to this one store here in town and this particular store happened to be her sister and brother-in-law's store.)

Oh.

(So the little pay back type thing.)

If you don't mind my mentioning the stores down here that we know we can go to?

(Un-huh, oh yes.)

Well one of them is the Hinds Department Store and the other one is Reeds and Walmart. I don't know if the other parents take their kids to other stores or not. But as far as I know they're the only stores that they told us that we could go to.

(Now you're children attend?)

Skelly School at Chewie.

(Skelly School at Chewie?)

Un-hum.

(Well I'd say that's pretty good then because Hinds is, well Hinds and Reeds is about, I'd say the best stores in town, wouldn't you?)

Un-huh, I usually take mine down to Reeds. They have pretty good clothes down there.

(They have good quality school clothes, don't they? Good shoes--Buster Browns and all that?)
