

And then my grandfather bought the place.

(sentence not clear)

Talk Cherokee, interpret for him.

(Yeah. They had a post office here at one time too?)

At one time.

(Yeah.)

Uncle Levi's store so often (words not clear)

(That was old Ned Christie. Well.)

He moved to town. He sold the store out and moved to town.

(Yeah.)

And so he didn't stay over there but a little while. Somebody wrote and said come get him. His mind got bad. He was old and feeble and shaky.

(Yeah.)

He come here and he wanted to see an old house and I took him over there.

He just sit and look at those old houses.

(Yeah, Goback Christie was quite a man, I guess, in his day. I guess he was a good carpenter and blacksmith too.)

Yeah. And he was a mason, wasn't he?

(Yes. He was a mason too.)
