

yonder.

(Yeah. Look like an old road run up through that way.)

Yeah might be--you might be able to get in there closer. Now the last time I was up in there--that was a good while ago. I look around these old places. There's some old cedar trees there, right close to the graveyard. It's up in there. I don't know--I don't guess anybody bother anything if we park it here and just walk up there.

MENTIONS SOME EARLY DAY FAMILIES

(Park it here. Now the Musgrove's they wer big important family here.)

Yeah.

(Who were some of the Indian families way back yonder? That lived here.

Let's see Sixkiller's and the--)

There pretty near all Sixkillers down here.

(Yeah, and the Reed, the Ketcher.)

Yeah, Ketchers. And George Ketcher married a Reed. Her mother was--her maiden name was Musgrove.

(Yeah and there were lots of the Lacie family, all through here, I guess?)

No, there wasn't too many. My father's old home was down around on--near Saline Creek.

(Yeah.)

My grandfather lived near--I don't know just where Kenwoods at. I've never been there since--I never did know where grandma lived, two years I think after father died. (sentence not clear)

MANY CHANGES SINCE EARLY DAYS - SIXKILLER FAMILIES

(This country changed a whole lot, hasn't it?)

Oh, it has.

(Didn't used to have this kind of roads through here? And, I guess, everybody was Indian long time ago through here?)

Yeah. Yes and we used to go cross--cross the woods from down home up to
