

And Joe England.

(Yeah, Joe England. And Otto Ragsdale, he's an old timer. And well, I guess, George Falling is an old timer too, up in there.)

Well, he's reasonable old. I don't know just how old he is.

Third: He's about sixty-five.

(Yeah. And Duck Keys, he's one of them too, isn't he?)

Yeah, he's been here a long time. He's part--what is he now?

(I thought he was part Shawnee.)

I don't know.

(Shawnee or Delaware?)

Third: I don't think it's either one.

(Let's see back in those early days, was Claremore the only trading center around?)

Claremore about the only, Claremore, Pryor.

(Pryor was one. That was before they had Foyil and Bushyhead, I guess.

Well, Foyil is an old place. It's been there ever since I can remember.

(Well.)

But it never has growed or anything.

(No, I don't guess it has.)

MAKING RAILROAD TIES

And all those little stations--they built that railroad through here--
Brisco road. I was just a kid.

(Yeah.)

And my dad, he, well he didn't make so many ties--he was hired to make and he sold them to the railroad. He made about--oh I forget how many.

Quite a lot of money about that time. Selling ties. He sold ties to them.

(Yeah.)
